

Let's Get Packing!

Immigrants were often only able to bring a few belongings with them. These often consisted of a change of clothes, family heirlooms, religious items, and some food. Let's say you are moving to a new country with your family and the only thing you can bring with you is the suitcase above. Draw the belongings you would take with you. On the back of the sheet, explain why you would bring each item. Keep in mind that the suitcase would only be about the size of the top of your desk.
